NEWSLETTER OF THE UNITARIAN UNIVERSALIST CHURCH OF THE LEHIGH VALLEY

February Services

February 5

Who Are You?

Marie Tweed We'll explore our identity as Unitarian Universalists and look at how that identity directs us to connect to the wider world.

February 12 A Question of Identity Rev. Libby Smith

Every movement needs a sense of identity - to know who we are, to bind us together in solidarity. But identity, when too sharply defined, can become limiting rather than empowering, and leave potential allies on the outside of our carefully drawn lines.

February 19 A Crisis of faith Tara Stephenson

What does the expression "crisis of faith" really mean? So many people think that "faith" and "belief" are equivalent terms, which really only confuses the issue. Come and bring your whole self!

February 26 Gifted and Called Rev. Libby Smith

So often we struggle to build a sense of personal identity based on what we believe the world wants from us. What might it be like to look first at our own gifts, and allow our identity to grow from an authentic and realistic understanding of ourselves?

DonSense - by Rev. Don Garrett

(Rev. Garrett is on sabbatical January-February.)

Our Theme for February: What Does It Mean to Be Community of Identity?

Afraid that our inner light will be extinguished or our inner darkness exposed, we hide our true identities from each other. In the process, we become separated from our own souls. We end up living divided lives, so far removed from the truth we hold within that we cannot know the "integrity that comes from being what you are." ~ Parker Palmer

Do I contradict myself? Very well, then I contradict myself, I am large, I contain multitudes. ~ Walt Whitman

It's one thing for a religion to offer you an identity; it's quite another for a religion to celebrate your identity. At our best, we UUs seek both.

Our entire Soul Matters program is about UU identity. Each month, we lift up a unique value or human quality that our faith calls us to live and lean into. Together, our themes tell us who UUs uniquely are. But that's only half of the equation. In addition to "UU identity," there's also "your identity." And our faith communities are just as committed to that.

In a sense, every UU congregation hangs two signs on their front doors: One that reads "Hidden Parts Allowed in the Open!" And another that says "Contradictions Welcome!"

We agree with Parker Palmer that our society has separated us from our souls. Indeed, the only relevant religions today are the ones that take this seriously. Hell certainly exists; it's the state of having to hide ourselves. And we also cheer on Walt Whitman's celebration of messiness and contradiction. We don't just want people to be honest about their contradictions; we want them to see those contradictions as great gifts! Bottom line: we want our congregations to be places where you don't have to pretend.

And it's not just the pressure to pretend that breaks our hearts. Our faith also worries about the way our culture urges us to live small. As social critic, Courtney Martin points out, "It's never been more asked of us to show up as only slices of ourselves." The risk of this, of course, is that if we live too long only in our "slices," they become all that we are. There is no greater spiritual warning than one Kurt Vonnegut lifted up: "We are what we pretend to be, so we must be careful about what we pretend to be." Friends, this identity work isn't a game or merely a pastime. It's unquestionably life and death stuff.

And here's the kicker: our faith wants you to stop hiding and live fully, not just for your sake, but for our sake as well. We are all struggling to escape our slices and connect to our hidden wholeness. (continued on Page 2...)

FROM THE PRESIDENT

Wow, how the year is flying by! It's already February and more than halfway through the church year. If your New Year's resolutions have lasted this long, good for you!! Keep up the good work!! If your resolutions have gone by the wayside, forgive vourself.

Although we do recognize Presidents Washington and Lincoln, February is probably most famous for Valentine's Day. While known mostly for thoughts of love, let me offer another perspective on love: kindness. Love, per se, conjures up feelings of romance, relationships, and family. all good things and all worthy of your heart.

I have one other concept of Valentine's Day: kindness. The appropriate definition in Merriam-Webster is "...having or showing a gentle nature and a desire to help others; wanting and liking to do good things and to bring happiness to others." The words and concepts of kindness always bring me back to my Darling Gail, who had both a gentle nature and a strong desire to help others. She demonstrated the power of kindness every day of her life.

I remember seeing a column that Gen. Colin Powell wrote after his days in the President's cabinet. His words spoke about the need for kindness and the overwhelming results that kindness can bring. He urged us all to look inward to find our center of kindness and then to spread our goodness wherever we go, for, indeed, kindness can work miracles.

As we work to find our footing in love to begin our journey planning our congregation's future, let us all be kind. Let us keep both the word and the concept of kindness in the forefront of our hearts and minds. We should pause that extra second to think before we lash out at someone and, instead, show kindness to our fellow congregants. Surely, we will all be on the other side at some point and will feel the power of someone else's kindness toward us.

Happy Valentine's Day!! May you all find love and kindness to fill your hearts.

Peace and Love, Bob

Seeing you be real gives us permission to be let our true self out of the dark! Your brave honesty about your contradictions, allows us to proudly strut around in our multitudes! We save each other by being true to ourselves.

So this month, maybe those signs need hung on your own personal doors. Hidden Parts Allowed Out in the Open! Contradictions Welcome! No More Pretending! For all of our sakes.

WHAT IS THE TRANSFORMATIONAL PLANNING TEAM (TPT) AND WHAT IS IT DOING?

The Transformational Planning Team is attempting to help build our congregation into a healthier organization, so that we may achieve clarity about our priority goals and become more mindful in practicing our covenantal behaviors. The TPT is made up of Rev. Don Garrett, Bob Kriebel, Cease Blocker, and Ellen Bell (executive committee of the Board of Trustees), Janice Lovegrove and Sarah Johnson (co-chairs of the Committee on Ministry), and Cecilia Collura-Eberhard (chair of Long-Range Planning Committee).

Our first task, currently underway, is to build a culture of respect, trust and collaboration on the TPT itself, the Board of Trustees and Minister (the affirmed leadership of the church), and all Committees, as well as to support and strengthen current activities and programs. While these Stage 7 efforts go forward, we ask that staff and/or lay leaders confer with any TPT member regarding any strategically significant plans that would change current activities.

The Transformational Planning Team will dissolve in June 2017, as the Board moves into Stage 8 work that will concentrate on developing a 3-5 year action plan. That effort will be led by a UUA consultant and an Action Planning Team (appointed by the Board) which will include diverse representation from staff, church leaders, and congregants. This 12-15 member team (to be announced at the June Congregational meeting), will engage the full congregation in exploring and discerning our most widely held aspirations for our community and translating those aspirations into specific churchwide goals—goals that answer the question: "What specific difference do we want to make in the lives of our members and those in the larger community?"

After the Board and Congregation approve the action plan (hopefully by Spring 2018), Stage 9 work will begin, as a church-wide implementation team or teams finalize strategies, begin implementation, and create ways to regularly measure our progress.

To learn more about this effort or how you might become involved, please feel free to contact any member of the TPT team. Also, plan to join us when we present more information about the process and our guiding resources at the March 12 Breakfast Forum.

FROM THE LIFESPAN EDUCATION COORDINATOR

Sexuality and Sexual Health Workshop for parents of 4-8 year-olds:

The RE Committee is committed to building on the ongoing success of the middle school Our Wholes Lives (OWL) faith-based sexuality education program. Although we currently only teach OWL to the middle school class, curricula are available for primary, elementary, high school, young adult and adult classes as well. We believe it is especially important make this program available to the parents of young children.

Since the numbers of kindergarten and first graders are too small to offer a viable OWL class, the RE Committee is offering an alternative: one two-hour class on sexuality education in the home on Sunday, February 26 from noon to about 2:00 in room 304. Child care will be available upon request.

The introductory parent workshop from the OWL curriculum is valuable as a stand-alone program. Used in conjunction with the pamphlet Be an Askable Parent: How to Talk with Your Child about Sex and Sexual Health, this session can get parents on the road to becoming confident, calm and positive sexuality educators for their children.

When my daughter was in 1st grade, my home congregation didn't offer K-1 OWL, much to my disappointment. As an alternative, the family minister, Virginia Jarocka-Ernst (some of you may remember her from her time here as DRE), offered an adult class using the Be an Askable Parent pamphlet as a source for the content. That class was extremely valuable in helping me and my wife to become better sexuality teachers for our daughter. We were armed with the ability to use correct terminality in our home, to be positive role models for her, and to be calm and reassuring when talking about sexuality with her. Those are the results we hope to achieve by sponsoring this class.

Director of Lifespan Religious Education (lec@uuclvpa.org)

Social Activists at the UUCLV

The UUCLV's members take pride in their concern for others and "social action" work which wears many different hats--from a youth group, to the winter sheltering program, to a community food pantry, to support for a refugee family, to nature work and more.

In summary, the Men's Emergency Shelter is running flat out right now with two more months to go. The oldest continuing UUCLV project is "HAVEN" which has 15 years under its belt providing a social and support environment for LGBT youth, says UUCLV member Pete Pellegrino, a HAVEN volunteer.

Here's the rest of the story: The tutorial and mentoring support for the Syrian refugee family will be a year old this spring, and the "The Food Pantry" which we joined in 2016 brings UUCLV members together with other religious groups in distributing food to those whose shelves might otherwise be bare. The Green Committee, which supports church and community environmental efforts, is a long-standing commitment of a few dedicated environmentalists.

These efforts operate independently but all are clearly helping others. Separately, the Social Action Committee operates the Fourth Friday Film Series (largely through Tom Ulrich's efforts), oversees congregational donations, and more, according to Gene Hunter and Cari Poole, Social Action co-chairs. "We are always looking for more volunteers, especially for the Emergency Shelter," Cari says. She can be contacted at fyicp@yahoo.com for anyone desiring more information or wishing to attend meetings on the second Monday of every month at 7:15 pm in the Friedemarie Kitchen.

Ann Gastinger of the sheltering program reports that December brought 69 different guests, 51 volunteers and 306 hours of volunteer services. Volunteers shop for food, prepare meals, set up sleeping and eating accommodations, serve food, interact with guests as would any hostess or host, stay up for much of the night to ensure the safety of all until dawn, serve breakfast, clean up and get ready for the next week. This makes for an intense four months of volunteer activity.

On the other hand, HAVEN supports a smaller group but operates year round. These are the gay, lesbian, bisexual and transgender youths who come to the UUCLV on Wednesday nights to socialize and find support. At a recent holiday party, the young people made ginger bread houses and enjoyed pizza, all the time supported by facilitators who oversee the activities and perform as confidants. All this, over 15 years, shapes a lot of lives.

From over 8,000 miles away came the six-member Syrian family, fleeing the destruction and dangers of a war torn homeland to safety in Allentown finding supporters from numerous Valley church groups, including the UUCLV. Language being the chief barrier, the family was immersed with tutors and supportive help for every aspect of daily life from shopping, to schooling, to job finding to muddling through the health care system, says UUCLV rep Judy Claps. Progress is a job, even if it is now only $7.50 an hour with hopes of better remuneration down the road. And success is having your Syrian born kids achieve in school winning a scholarship to the Baum School of Art or reading English at the 2nd grade level in less than a year.

And joining other churches in distributing much needed food supplies from is ecumenical Food Pantry brings not only good deeds but many insights into what an insecure economic base feels like, at least for a few hours on a Wednesday night and knowing you are helping, says Cease Blocker who brought this cause to the attention of the Social Action Committee.

Currently, through the Green Committee, about 600 plants are quietly wintering under the auspices of Ilse Stoll Zinnes to burst forth for the UUCLV Spring Plant Sale under the supportive, garden gloved hands of the Green Committee. (The sale is held annually in September as well.) These same hands upkeep the Center Street garden, the home of only native plants, as overseen by Ilse and Karen Hicks, among others.

What these projects have in common is a 'social action" agenda—yet all they're conceived and delivered outside the bounds of the Social Action Committee.

FEBRUARY MEN'S GROUP

Our next meeting is 6:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 6 in the FM kitchen. The discussion topic is what we expect individually for the New Year. Do you have any "resolutions?" What would you like to accomplish or improve in yourself this year? Have there been any resolutions made and actually kept in the past that have influenced your life. The Men's Group is open to all men affiliated with the UUCLV and their male friends. Please bring food and/or beverage to share. For information: men@uuclvpa.org or Frank Claps at 610-346-7629.
